

ACCESSIBILITY PROGRAM (AODA)

WESTHILLS CARE CENTRE

ACCESSIBILITY POLICY

OVERVIEW

The Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA) was passed into law in 2005. The purpose of the AODA is to achieve accessibility for Ontarians with disabilities on or before January, 2025 through the development, implementation and enforcement of accessibility standards.

The Accessibility Standards for Customer Service, Ontario Regulation 429/07 (also known as the Accessible Customer Service Regulation), came into force on January 1, 2008. It was the first accessibility standard created under the authority of the AODA and was a significant step toward a GOAL of accessible ONTARIO.

The Integrated Accessibility Standards, Ontario Regulation 191/11 (IASR), which came into force in June 2011, created standards in the areas of information and communications, employment, transportation and the design of public places. The requirements under this regulation are being phased in over time. The IASR requirements are to be phased in from 2011 to 2025, with specific compliance deadlines for various sections of the regulation.

The AODA and its standards do NOT diminish the Home's legal obligation towards persons with disabilities that arise under the Human Rights Code or any other Act or are otherwise imposed by law (AODA Section 3). Rather, both sets of obligations will apply to the Home, and will have to be complied with. If two laws conflict, the provision that provides the highest level of accessibility for persons with disabilities with respect to goods, services facilities, employment, accommodation, buildings, structures or premises is the law that must be followed (AODA, Section 38)

All organizations and businesses which provide goods and services in Ontario are obligated to comply with the provisions outlined under the Act and Regulations and therefore, they must continually identify, remove and prevent barriers so that people with disabilities are able to more effectively integrate and enjoy equal job opportunities.

PURPOSE

To outline the Home's responsibilities for providing accessible goods and services to persons with disabilities as required by the regulatory requirements.

To break down barriers and increase accessibility for persons with disabilities, in the area of information, communication, employment, building design and site environment.
